

Public Standards, Ethics and Entrapment: An Interdisciplinary Conference

Thursday 19th May 2016

Foresight Centre, University of Liverpool

0900	Registration &amp; Refreshments
Session 1. Ethics. Chair: Stuart Wilks-Heeg
0930	Stephen McLeod (Philosophy, University of Liverpool)	'British Political Scandals and the Committee on Standards in Public Life'
0945	David Whyte (Sociology, University of Liverpool)	'Reconstructing Ethics Beyond the "Sanctity" of the University'
1015	Daniel Hill, Stephen McLeod & Attila Tanyi (Philosophy, University of Liverpool)	'Entrapment and its Ethics'
1100	Refreshment Break
Session 2. Public Accountability and Public Standards. Chair: David Whyte
1115	Mark Philp (History, University of Warwick; Chair of the Research Advisory Board to the Committee on Standards in Public Life)	'Political Office, Reporting, and Accountability'
1200	Stuart Wilks-Heeg (Politics, University of Liverpool)	'Enforcing Public Standards In a Monitory Democracy: Who Monitors Whom and What do They Find?'
1230	Lunch
Session 3. Law, Politics and the Media. Chair: Peter Goddard
1330	Michael Gordon (Law, University of Liverpool)	'Public Standards, Ethics and Entrapment: Constitutional Dimensions'
1400	Tom Porter (Channel 4)	'Politicians for Hire: Rights, Rules and Regulation'
1445	Refreshment Break
Session 4. Investigative Journalism, Stings and Scandals. Chair: Daniel Hill
1500	Peter Goddard (Communication and Media, University of Liverpool)	' Panorama and the "Fake Sheikh": Legitimate and Illegitimate Motives for Investigative Journalism'
1530	Charlotte Harris (Kingsley Napley LLP)	'The Decline of the English Sex Scandal'
1630	Close	